ELM STREET HOTEL.

No 9 ELM STREET, Boston.

Z. MACOMBER would apprise his friends and the travelling public generally, that he continues the well known General Stage House, occupied some time since by Jones Eastabrooks & Co, and formerly by C. Jennings, where he will be happy to receive both acquaintances and strangers, and will use every exertion to gratify their wishes and make their stay comfortable. The Hotel has been thoroughly repaired and refitted; and to busicess men in particular it offers a central and convenient house of entertainment. Mr J T. Macomber still superintends the affairs of the establishment—and from his long familiarity with the duties of a public house, full confidence is felt in his ability to give entire satisfaction to every class of visitors.

Stages leave this house for each of the rail road depots—and for different parts of the country. Attached also are two large and airy stables.

Blackstone, corner of Cross street, Boston.

The subscriber late of the Yeoman House, would respectfully inform his friends, and the public generally, that he has taken the above House in connexion with J. P. JONES; and both will devote their best services to promote the confirst of rigitors.

JONES; and both will devote their
the comfort of visitors.

The House is spacious and mostly new, containing about sixty apartments, together with a pleasant dining Hall and sitting rooms, all of which are newly furnished. The location of the National is pleasant and central, and the subscriber hopes to receive a continuance of that patronage hitherto so liberally bestowed.

POETRY.

THE BRIDEGROOM TO HIS SLEEPING BRIDE. Sleep, loved one, sleep—thy tangled hair Flows loosely o'er thy bosom bare, Yet sleep in peace-no prying eye, Save thy lover's own, is night.
Sleep, dearest, sleep—thy lover's breast

Pillows thy rest. Sleep on, sleep on-nay do not start-"I' fs but thy lover's beating heart, Whose pulses throb against thy cheek, Tokening the love they cannot speak. Sweet dreamer, sleep—thy lover's eye Is watching nigh.

Sleep on, sleep on, sweet folded flower, Till rosy morning's dawning hour; Sleep and dream on-thy lover's arm Is fondly sheltering thee from harm; Sleep and fear not—thy lover's ear
Is listening mear.

Omnipotent of earth and heaven! By whom all blissful gifts are given-To whom this treasured one I owe That sleeps upon my bosom now,-I give thee thanks for every bliss, But most for this!

LORD ELLENBOROUGH.

Lord Ellenborough's temper often brought him into unpleasant collision with counsel at the bar. scenes which were sometimes exhibited on such oceasions were not calculated to add to the dignity of the proceedings in a court of justice. But the only instance in which any squabble with the person addressing the court seems to have made any permanent impression on his own mind, was the trial, in 1817, of Mr William Howe, at that time a well known vender of political pamphlets. Mr Howe had been indicted on three several informations, for sedition and blasphemy. Mr Justice Abbott, afterwards Lord Tenterden, presided on the trial of Mr Howe, on the To the infinite surprise of Lord Ellenfirst information. To the infinite surprise of Lord Eden-borough, and I believe of the Government also, at whose instance, as a matter of course, the informations had been brought, the defendant was acquitted. Lord Ellenborough. conceiving t'e case to be so clear against Mr Howe, that no jury, if the law and facts were brought fairly before their minds, could hesitate to convict, said, immediately on hearing of the acquittal on the first information, "Pil go down," meaning to the court of King's Bench at Guild-"I'll go down, and preside myself to-morrow." His Lordship did so, and the trial on the second information proceeded. The court was crowded to suffocation, the case having excited the deepest interest. Mr Howe defended himself in person. Regarding himself as, in some measure, a martyr to his opinions, and encouraged by the sympathies of a crowded court, the defendant exhibited the greatest self-possession throughout the proceedings, and being naturally a man of great readiness in re-plying to any observations made against him, he made some exceedingly happy remarks, when Lord Ellenborough in-terfered with the manner in which he was conducting his case. Such remarks almost invariably elicited simultaneous bursts of applause from the spectators, which very natturally irritated the temper of Lord Ellenborough,-as they were no doubt unbecoming a court of justice. His Lordship, losing all patience, sent for the Sheriff and his colleague; and on their entering court, he addressed the former in the most indignant tones, in these terms:-"I have sent for you and your colleague, sir, as there is a necessity for your presence. There have been most unseemly disturbances in the court; you are the persons who are responsible, and you shall be responsible; and therefore, you will use your utmost activity in apprehending any persons who dare to interrupt the course of jus-

In a very short time after this, Lord Ellenborough, who had a little before refused to allow Mr Howe to retire for a moment from court, though very unwell, refused him permission to read some extracts from a newspar he thought essential to his defence: on which he, with peculiar emphasis, exclaimed, "My Lord! my Lord! your Lordship is not on your trial-I am !" A member of the bar, who was present on the occasion, once said, that he never witnessed anything produce such an effect. It acted with the simultaneousness of electricity on the audience. A peal of applause which lasted for sometime, showed the response which their bosoms gave to the felicity of the remark. When silence had at length been obtained, Lord Ellenborough again adjured the Sheriffs, in an angry tone, to do their duty. They replied that they could not fix on any particular individual, as they had been confounded by the instantaneousness and universality of the applause. On this Lord Ellenborough, worked up into a paroxysm of rage, and as if scarcely knowing what he said, exclaimed, "Open your eyes, and see; stretch out your hand and seize the offender!" The trial went on midst various other similar interruptions, and the defendant was again acquitted. It was thought the third information would, under these circumstances, be abandoned Such was not the fact. Lord Ellenborough took his seat next day on the bench, and the Attorney General proceeded with the case against the delendent. The court was again, and to a greater extent, the scene of similar exhibitions; and the result of the proceedings was, as before, the acquittal of the defendent. When the verdict of "Not was proneunced, the applause was absolutely deatening. Lord Ellenborough was the same evening heard to say, "I must bow down till the storm blown over." This was the first time he had ever been known to utter any expression indicative of yielding to the presssure of circumstances. He never was himself again. He died about tweive months after. In person he was about the middle size and rather stout. His complexion was florid, and the expression of his countenance indicated the irascibility of his temper. He had a fine sonorous voice and was considered a good speaker .- Metropolitan.

Wonderful Curiosity .- One of the greatest living curiosities in human shape now in existence, is probably that in the person of a child recently arrived in this city from the West Indies. He is aged 9 years, and has a head of such enormous magnitude, that the sight of it creates astonishment and awe. Its shape is not distorted, but seems to have been formed for a man of about 10 or 11 feet statue; in fact, it is of colossal demensions, like that of some ancient statues. It measured 31 inches in circumference, and the arch of the apex measuring from ear to ear, is 23 inches. Its weight is prodigious, being almost 50 pounds! The child was born so, and the head has always borne the same proportion to the rest of the body and hmbs, which are well formed and those of a small child of that age. He never moves from his position on his back, but to sees his head constantly, rolling his eyes as if in agony with the Atlantean globe, which a divine providence for some in scrutable cause, has placed upon his infant shoulders. His features are natural and wen shaped, but expressive, as might be supposed, of an age and maturity corresponding to the immease mass of brain. Therefore they have the physiognomy for a tuli grewn man with the diminutive size of those of a child. At the apex the sutuares have not yet united, leaving an open interval as large as the hand; much larger than in a new-born infant .- N. Y. Star.

BOSTON MORNING POST.

FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1837.

Annihilation of Property .- Men are very apt to look upon the present distresses of the community, as amounting to an annihilation of property. This is a very great error. The resources of the country are as great as they ever were. A bankrupcy levels the wealth of different individuals, and when it falls upon the honest trader it must be deplored as a great evil. The evil which it produces is not only the destruction of the property of one who deserved it by his honesty and industry, but likewise the loss of confidence in one another which it causes in the trading world. Yet so far as bankroptcies affect only those who have been gambling in stocks, who have been making reckless, extravagant and desperate efforts to become rich at the expense of the community, they are a public blessing. They teach the bankrupt speculator a lessen of prudence and virtue, and they teach the community the true value of this class of traders-that is, their utter worthlessness. The bankruptcies which affect honest men are to be deplored, as having a tendency to check the arder and confidence of honest industry; the bankruptcies which affect only the dishonest speculator, are to be rejoiced at, as having a tendency both to reduce fictitious capitalists to their true level, and to destroy the confidence of the people in that class of men who deserve no confidence.

Yet, in either case, bankrupteies do not annihilate wealth. If the bankrupt owes more than he is worth, his creditors have lost a portion of their supposed wealth, by his failure. But this wealth did not really exist, and it is not therefore annihilated. If the bankrupt possesses more property than the amount of his debts, and is obliged to sell at a sacrifice, in order to meet the demands of his creditors, the community suffers a moral evil, by the failure of an honest and substantial trader. But the property which he possessed is not annihilated. It still exists, but has passed into different hands, at a price lower, perkaps, than its real value. Both of these kinds of bankruptcies are now constantly taking place, and, perhaps, the evil which arises from the one, is more than balanced by the good which arises from the other. Except so far as productive industry is checked by the present pressure, it cannot diminish the actual amount of wealth in the coun-

We copy below the resolution of 1816, the section of the law of April 14th, 1836, under which the Collectors and Receivers more immediately act-the Treasury Circular of June 16th, 1836, carrying the section into effect, the Circular of the 12th instant, and the extract from the Distribution Law of June 23d, 1836.

No person of common understanding can fail to perceive that all discretion is taken from the government, and that the requirements of the laws are absolute.

A RESOLUTION Relative to the more effectual collection of the Public

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he hereby is, required and directed to adopt such measures as he may necessary, to cause, as soon as may be, all duties, taxes, debts, or sums of money, accruing, or becoming payable to the United States, to be collected and paid in the legal currency of the United States, or Treasury Notes, or Notes of the Bank of the United States, as by law provided and declared, or in Notes of Banks which are payable and paid on demand, in the said legal currency of the United States; and that, from and after the twentieth day of February next, no such duties, taxes, debts, or sums of money, accraing or becoming payable to the United States, as aforesaid, ought to be collected or received otherwise than in the legal currency of the United States, or Treasury Notes, or Notes of the Bank of the United States, or in Notes of Banks which are payable and paid on demand, in the said legal corrency of the United States.

Approved 30th April, 1816. SECTION 2. And be it further enacted, That hereafter no bank note of less denomination that Ten Dollars, and that from and after the third day of March, Anno Domini eighteen hundred and thirty-seven, no bank note of less denomination than Twenty Dollars shall be offered in paymeat in any case whatsoever in which money is to be paid by the United States or the Post Office Department, shall any bank note of any denomination be offered, unless the same shall be payable, and paid on demand, in gold or silver coin, at the place where issued, and which shall not be equivalent to specie at the place where offered, and convertible into gold or silver upon the spot, at the will of the holder, and without delay or loss of time: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to make any thing but gold and silver a legal tender by any individual or by the United States.

Approve ! April 14, 1836. Treasury Circular, dated June 16th, 1836.
To collectors and receivers of Public Money, and to the Deposite Banks. The charter of the United States Bank having expired on the 3d of March last, and the 14th section of it which made the notes of that Bank receivable for public dues, having been repealed by Congress on the 15th inst. you are hereby notified, that said notes are no longer, by law, so receivable. For further information, connected with the kind of money which ought hereafter to be taken, I amex a copy of the second section of an act of Congress, passed April 14, 1836, directing in what alone, all future payments are to be made to the future creditors, viz:

"Section 2 .- And be it further enacted, that hereafter no note of a less denomination than ten dollars, and that from and after the third day of March, anno domini eighteen hundred and thirty-seven, no bank note of less denomination than twenty dollars, shall be offered in payment, in any case whatever, in which money is to be paid by the United States or the Post Office Department, nor shall any Bank note of any denomination be so offered, unless the same shall be payable and paid on demand, in gold or silver coin, at the place where issued, and a min shall not be equivalent to specie, at the place where offered, and convertible into gold or silver upon the spot, at the will of the holder, and without delay or loss to him. Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to make any thing but gold or silver a legal tender by any individual or by the United States."

In carrying faithfully into effect the above imperative provision, and at the same time, giving all safe and legal accommodation to the community, in the receipt of money, you will perceive the propriety of not receiving any Bank notes, which are not redeemable and redeemed in specie, and on demand, or any which do not in other respects, come within the regulations of former circulars from this Department.

LEVI WOODBURY. Treasury Department, 16th Jan. 1836.

Treasury Department, May 12, 1837. To Collectors of Customs .- If the banks where you deposite should suspend specie payments, you will yourself collect and keep safely in your own hands, the public money, for all duties at your post until further directions are given to you by this Department, how to deposite, transSecretary of the Treasury.

And here follows the extract from the famous distribution Law. If that be carried into effect the revulsion will be greater than was ever known. We entreat that those procured it, and celebrated its enactment as a triumph, will specifily devise some shelter from its consequences. An Act to regulate the Deposites of the Public Money

§ 5. And be it further enacted, That no Bank shall be selected or continued as a place of deposite of the public money which shall not redeem its notes and bills on demand, in specie;" &c.

Specie Circular - Respecting the right and duty of covernment to protect the public revenue, we give an authority which the opponents of the administration will not question, (says the New York Post.) We shall not offer any prelim nary observatious, but leave the matter for the reflection of those who clamour so loudly against the spe-

Mr Webster in 1816, in a speech, contended that-

"This government has a right, in all cases, to protect its own revenues, and to guard them against defalcation by had or depreciated paper.

Again, he says: ' the only power which the gen ral government possesses of restraining the issues of the state banks, is to refuse their notes in the receipts of the treas-

The duty of government is thus pointed out in another part of the same speech-

" It is easy for a portion of the people to imagine that the Government may properly continue to receive depreciated paper, because they have received it, and because it is more convenient to obtain it than to obtain other paper, or specie. But on these subjects it is that Government night to exercise its own peculiar wisdom and caution. It is bound to foresee the evil before every man feel- it, and to take all necessary measures to guard against it, although they may be measures attended with some difficulty, and not without temporary inconvenience."

Let us now see what were his opinions of the kind of currency that ought to supersede this depreciated paper:-

"There was no nation which had guarded its currency with greater care; for the framers of the Constitution, and those who enacted the early statutes, were hard money men. They had felt, and therefore duly appreciated, the evils of a paper medium. They, therefore, seduously guarded the currency of the United States from debasement. The legal currency of the country was gold and silver com. This was a subject into which Congress had run into no folly."

"I PROFESS TO BE A BULLIONIST, IN THE USUAL AND ACCEPTED SENSE OF THAT WORD. I AM FOR A SPECIE BASIS FOR OUR CIRCULATION, AND FOR SPECIE AS A PART OF HE CIRCULATION, SO FAR AS IT MAY BE FRACTICABLE AND CONVENIENT. I AM FOR GIVING NO VALUE TO PAPER, MERELY AS PAPER. I ABHOR PAPER; THAT IS TO SAY IRREDEEWABLE PAPER-PAPER THAT MAY NOT BE CONVERTED INTO GOLD OR SILVER AT THE WILL OF THE HOLDER."-

Mr Biddle's Letter .- The New York Star of Tuesday evening contains a letter from Mr Biddle to Mr Adams, on the existing state of affairs, which, in some of its fentures, is at variance with certain opinions expressed by whig leaders and whig papers. Mr Biddle justifies the suspension of specie payments, on the ground of overruling necessity, solely, and urges the propriety of rendering it as short as possible. In his concluding paragraph, he admits that the Banks have been extravagant in their loans and issues, and have given thereby an inflated value to their paper-and that a suspension of specie payments has removed the only check thereon, which was the convertibility of paper into coin. He says it is our duty to substitute some effectual restraints which may enable us to restore the currency without delay or difficulty to a safe

Does the incendiary of the Atlas think that laboring people have lost their senses, and that they are mere dupes whese teelings he can impose woon to answer his own traiterous purposes when he pleases? I should think so from the piece in his paper which he signs "A Handcartman." The laboring people know that HE WAS THE FIRST TO RECOMMEND A REDUCTION OF THEIR WAGES in the new system of economy which he was for establishing for his wealthy friends. I know the hard working men in this community as well as anybody, and their sentiments and feelings-they feel the evils of the times severely, and know how they have been produced; but will not seek a remedy in destroying each other, at least, as the Atlas is urging them to do to get rid of them. If anarchy is to be the order of the day, they will not shun the issue. The Atlas folks may possibly wake up the wrong passengers. A HARD HAND.

In the Autobiography of an Actress, in the last Metro-

She is torced to cress her face in smiles at the moment, when, perhaps, the pang of disappointment-nay, the worm of disease, may be praying upon her heart. Then the laborthe mental drudgery of an actress. Ah! gentle reader, when you are gazing with delight upon some accomplished fair one, who has the skill to identify herself with those beautiful creations of our immortal bard-a Rosalind or a Beatrice-an Ophelia or a Juliet-you little think of the laborious study, to which for days, weeks, nay years, she has devoted herself, in order to attain that grace, ease, and pathos, by which public approbation is won.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

The Steamboat Rhode Island left New York on Wedne s lay morning, and her passengers arrived in Boston early exterday morning, bringing newspapers, which contain othing of importance, except the passage of the Bill before the New York Legislature, allowing the Banks to suspend Specie Payment for one year, and information that there by Haynes, made out such a case, as required Mr Low to go had been an alarming popular commotion in Philadelphia, and a great meeting of the Anti-Bank party, demanding payment of $5 notes in specie. The Messrs. Topliff have received by her a letter from their correspondents, the Editors of the New York Gazette, written just as the boat was about sailing, which states that the Pilot Line mail rom Philadelphia had arrived, bringing the Washington Globe of Tuesday, containing the President's Proclamation for the convention of Congress, on the 1st Monday of process against the collateral notes was, if unexplained, a September-and a notice of the Secretary of the Treasury, that Custom House Bonds falling due and remaining unpaid, would be extended, to all who could not pay them, until a reasonable time after the meeting of Congress.

the suspension of specie payments by the banks. The following is from the United States Gazette of Monday :-

Great Meeting .- The largest assemblage that we ever witnessed in Philadelphia, met yesterday in the State House yard, in pursuance of a call published for two er three days previous, signed by Messrs Farrell, Hogan, Thompson, and other gentlemen connected with the Trades' Union Society, including three of those who acted as Presidents of that body. The meeting was fixed at 4 o'clock, but for two or three bours previous the crowds began to a-semble, and the ousiness of the meeting comenced a few minutes before the appointed time, at which period there were not less than twenty thousand persons present, three-fourths of whom it is probable, were drawn thicher from motives of curiosity, and took no part whatever in the proceedings. We could not get near enough to distinguish the names of the officers who were a pointed by the meeting, nor to hear the resolutions that were read or the speeches that were delivered upon the occasion. A committee was appointed for the purpose, so far as we could learn, of carrying into effect the object of the meeting, which was declared to be " for the purpose of taking into consideration measures for retaining the specie in the country for dorrestic and national purposes, and against the introduction of small notes." Among the measures proposed at the meeting, and we believe adopted, for efcting so desirable an object, was the commencement of prosecutions against all corporations, institutions or infividuals, who have issued notes contrary to law, and also for commencing suits at law, against any bank which shall refuse payments of its notes in specie. Steps will be of the community has so much reason to deplore.

After listening to several eloquent addresses, the meeting at 5 o'clock adjourned to meet again on Thursday next, for the purpose of hearing the report of their committee. MUNICIPAL COURT.-Upon the motion of the counsel of Nathaniel Low and Thomas A. Delano, indicted for a felonious taking of certain notes from Charles Haynes, the Court ordered separate trials, and the trial of Mr Low commenced yesterday. After the examination of Deputy Sheriff Freeman and Mr Haynes, for the prosecution, the counsel on both sides agreed to submit the question to the Court, whether the facts testified to into a defence at all. In this stage of the trial, the questions whether Mr Haynes is corroborated, or contradicted by Mr Freeman, or whether he is a credible witness, do not arise. On the part of Mr Low, it is admitted, that under the advice of his counsel, Mr Bartlett, he resorted to the trustee process, as a plan to insure the success of his suit against Haynes for usury ; and on the part of the government, it is admitted, that the suit for usury was prima facie well grounded. The question for the Court, therefore, to decide, is simply, whether the trustee criminal abuse of the civil process. If it decides, that it was not such a criminal abuse, then the prosecution will fail, and the trial go no further ; but if it decides otherwise, then Lowwill go into his defence, by attempting to show a justification, or contradictions, and by impeaching the character of Mr 83 Great excitement exists in Philadelphia, created by Haynes. Judge Thacher intimated, that he should probably be able to give his opinion, at ten o'clock, this forenoon, and the Court adjourned to that hour.

Messrs Choate and Bartlett are counsel for Mr Low. Mr Parker stated, that if Mr Low should be acquitted, the prosecution against Mr Delano would be discontinued. In the course of the cross examination, Mr Haynes said, that he had never loaned money to Low, at the legal rate of six per cent. It appeared from a paper containing a series of computations of interest, charged low, in Mr Haynes' handwriting, and admit ed by him, that in no instance was the rate less than a quarter per cent. per day, and in some instances it was ses of the Human Constitution, that has ever been dis

These Pills are composed entirely of materials extracted from Medical Plants, and are warranted not to contain one particle of mercury, or any mineral substance. Dr Kingley, the inventor of this valuable medicine, from his knowledge of the Human System, derived from a long and extensive practice, has arrived to the conclusion, that the great and primary cause of most diseases is a derangement in the functions of the liver; or, in other words, an increased or diminished second cretion of the Bile

So well is this understood, that it is common for persons to say when they feel unwell, that they are bilious, meaning that they have too much bile in the stomach. On the other hand, when the flow of bile is diminished, the process of digestion is imperfectly performed, the patient becomes weak gestion is imperiectly performed, the patient becomes weak and emaciated, because nourishment contained in the food twach into the stomach is not properly extracted, and the food is ejected in a crude state. Dr Kingley is confident that the famous flygeian Theory, so called, that "impurity of the blood is the cause of all diseases," is a great absurdity. Every one who reflects upon the subject a moment, will perceive that impurity of the blood is a secondary, not a primary complaint this effect and por the subjects. When the functions the effect and not the cause of disease. When the functions of the liver are deranged, and the flow of bile increased, it is often taken up by the absorbent vessels and curried into the circulation, and becomes mingled with the blood as in Janndiee, when the patient shows it in his countenance. Now this impurity of the blood is caused by an increased flow of the bile, and to remedy it you must correct the secretion of the ver, and restore it to a healthy state. Dr Kingley has spent much time in experimenting with different vegetable medicines, for discuses of the liver, and now offers his Universal Family Pills as the bast, most convenient and cheapest medicine that can be prepared for general use; and in offering them to the public, he is actuated more by benevolent then pecuniary motivos, as the price of the medicine

Or Kingley flatters himself that his long experimenting with vegetable medicines has enabled him to discover the true and only substitute answering all the purposes of mercurials, without any of their attendant evils. One great quality of his Family Fills is that they have the alterative principle combined with their cathartic or operative quality, so that they not only cleaned the stomach and bowels by purging, but they regulate the liver, change the morbid secretions, strengthen the digestive organs, purify the blood, invigorate the circulation, and give tone and energy to the nervous system.

They are mild and pressant to their operation, and convey adm: st tunmediate convection of their utility from the first dose. They can be taken with safety by persons of any age, and the feeble, the infirm, the nervous, the delicate, are strengthened by their operation, because they clear the system of bad humors, quiet nervous irritabilities and restles ness, from whatever source, and invariably produce sound sleep.

The Family Pills are an invariable remedy for the aundice, The Family Pills are an invariable remedy for the admitter, sick and nervous headache, dyspepsia, costiveness, sickness of the stomach, heartburg, all bilious complaints, levers of all kinds, and it taken at the commencement will invariably check their progress, and save the patient from a protracted and dangerous sickness. They are invaluable in nervous and hypocondrical affections, loss of appetite, and all complaints to which is made above a subject. They operate as a mild and appears of the patients are subject.

Since I have introduced my Universal Family Pills to the public I have received numerous certificates of their superior efficacy in curing diseases; also many letters from respectable physicians who have used them in their practice with the best success.

The Arcanum has proved itself by years of experience far superior in its effects to the Panaceu of Swaim, Catholicon of "Cleanse the foul Bosom of that peritous stuff which decided upon the Heart."

Dr. LQVEMAN'S Balm of Gilead is universally acknowledged to be peculiarly efficacious in all inward wastings, loss of appetite, indigestion, depression of spirits, trembling or shaking of the hands or limbs, shortness of breath, and consumptive habits. It thins the blood, eases the most violent pain in the head and stomach, and promotes gentle perspiration. By the Medical Faculty this medicine is much admired being pleasant to the taste and smell, gently astringing the fibres of the stomach, and giving that proper tensity which a good digestion requires. superior in its effects to the Panacea of Swaim, Catholicon o. Potter, or the French Robs. In testimony of the above statement, we refer to the opinion of Dr Sam'l L. Mitchell, of New York, Dr Jones of Baton Rouge, Dr Archer of Virginia, Dr Godman of Philadelphia, who have 'avestigated the properties and efficacy of the article, and affirmed it as being superior to all medicines in their knowledge, for the removal of the diseases above named. Price $2 per bottle.

Boylston, Mass. Ang. 1st, 1835.

In the year 1830 I requested Dr Phelps to visit a daughter of mine, aged about 15 years, having a distortion of the spine or back bone, and whose general health had always been feeble.

good digestion requires.

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead is recommended to the weak, the relaxed, and debilitated, as an agreeable and speedy restorative; and considered as a cordial, is essential to the comfort of ladies of fashion, being a preventive against cold, when taken before going out to parties, balls, routs or the play. It will enliven the spirits and invigorate the mind and body, and if taken after fatigue, it will with a few hours sleep, take away all larguor consequent on broken rest, and give relief from every unpleasant sensations.

The curvature of the spine, at that time, had acquired a hopeless and singularly disfigured appearance, and the Sternum or breast hone corresponded with the distortron, presenting to the beholder a deformity calculated to excite the deepest sympathy. From the first appearance of this disease, I had solicited the most skilful of the profession, whose attendance, various prescriptions and remedies were unattended with success or benefit—in a word, the progressive march of the disease hid defiance to the ingenuity of skill, and thepowers. the disease bid defiance to the ingenuity of skill, and thepower of medicine.

It was under these circumstances that we commenced the use of the Arcanum, which was perseveringly administered for several months. Her general health soon began to improve, and the progress of the disease was gradually arrested by this medicine only, and the use of the salt water bath.

by this medicine only, and the use of the salt water bath.

From this period, her strength and energies of mind and body were evidently improving, and the deformity has subsided with the growth of years. At this time, which is more than five years since, we adopted the treatment of Dr Phelps, my daughter is in the enjoyment of good health, to our asion-ishment and admiration. She has been a teacher or instructress for two years past.

away all languor consequent on broken rest, and give relief from every unpleasant sensation.

It is a most valuable remedy for such diseases as are attended with the following symptoms, namely—a great straitness of the breast, with difficulty of breathing—violent palpitations of the heart, sudden flasces of heat in various parts of the body—at other times a sense of cold, as if water was poured on them—flying pains in the arms and limbs, back and belly, resembling those occasioned by the gravel—the pulse very variable, sometimes uncommonly slow, at other times very quick—yawning, the hiccough, frequent sighing, and a sense of suffication, as from a ball or lump in the throat—alternate fits of crying and convulsive langhing—the sleep unsound, and seldom refreshing, and the patient often troubled with horrid dreams. Much has been said by interested individuals against Medicines that are advertised, but there is a very important observation to be made respecting Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead, that unless its operation was gentlessafe and efficacious, it could not have obtained the unexampled demand it has acquired. which strike their roots so deep in the constitution, and are so fatal to the happiness of mankind.

Dr. Loveman's Balm of Gilead has risen in repute with every trial of its efficacy. Some, perhaps, unacquainted with its virtues, not having perused the Guide to flesht, may be induced to ask what is the Balm of Gilead good for? What complaint doth it cure?—To answer this it will be necessary to "Hold the Mirror up to Nature."

Let those who are afficted in the following manner reflect on the cause that produced such havoc upon the "wholesome appetites and powers of life:"—disordered stomach, dry cough, weakness in the voice hoarseness, shortness of breath upon the least exercise, and relaxation of the whole system. Those afflicted with paleness, languor of the eyes, weakness of sight or memory, should take time to consider Lisnaeus's advice, that "youth is the impertant period for forming a robust constitution," and that "nothing is to be dreaded so much as premature excess." The foundation of a happy eld age is a good constitution in youth; temperance and moderation at that age are passports to happy grey hairs.

For such as have violated these precepts, then, this healing bahm is suitable—complaints included in the vague appellation of Nervous and Consumptive, are those for which it is peculiarly adapted.

In offering this medicine to the public, I can say with confidence that they will find great benefit by using it in all diseases recommended, as I sm tully acquainted with the medical qualities, as they have been discovered by myself, and are extracted from vegetables, and I can truly say, there is no earthly danger in using the medicine by any person, no matter how M and Bath at 6 o'clock, P.
